

Deborah Burrow

Deborah lives and works in Suffolk, England.

"My work explores wild landscapes, wildlife, and my connection to nature. I use acrylic and ink, layering colour and texture to capture tranquil moments and evoke emotion. My process involves observing nature on location, sketching ideas, and experimenting with composition and materials to express curiosity and wonder. Each piece invites viewers to pause and reflect, reminding us of nature's vital presence. Through my art, I aim to connect people, encourage understanding, and inspire reflection."

Deborah is a member of the Ipswich Art Society and a founding member of the Ipswich Visual Arts Community. She also teaches online and in person at Stoke Bridge Workshops in Ipswich.
